

Former Dunbar Pupil Will Debate Abroad

John P. Davis, former Dunbar student, editor-in-chief of the college daily of Bates college, Maine, has been selected by the American University union, with three others, to represent the United States in a series of debates with leading Scotch and English universities.

He will debate at Oxford, Cambridge, St. Andrew's and Edinburgh and in several of the provincial colleges. While abroad, the debaters will visit the battlefields of France and make trips to Germany, Italy and intervening countries. They will sail May 10.